Re: Community Priorities Survey, #01125

INTRODUCTION & METHODOLOGY

From August 3-8, 2022, DHM Research conducted a survey of Vancouver residents. The purpose of the survey was to gauge residents' sentiment around city services, budget priority topics, and general community values with an eye toward the City budgeting process.

Research Methodology: The survey consisted of 400 Vancouver residents and took approximately 15 minutes to complete. This is a sufficient sample size to assess resident opinions generally and to review findings by multiple subgroups, including age, gender, area of the city, education level, income, race, and homeownership status.

Survey respondents were contacted from a voter list and the survey was administered in English, Spanish, Russian, and Vietnamese. Voter sample was supplemented by commercial lists to reach community members who may not register to vote.. Landline respondents were contacted by a live interviewer. Cellphone respondents, who are typically harder to reach, were contacted by either a live interviewer or via text with a link to complete the survey online. In gathering responses, a variety of quality control measures were employed, including questionnaire pre-testing and validation. Quotas were set by age, gender, education, and race to ensure a representative sample of Vancouver's adult population.

Statement of Limitations: Any sampling of opinions or attitudes is subject to a margin of error. The margin of error is a standard statistical calculation that represents differences between the sample and total population at a confidence interval, or probability, calculated to be 95%. This means that there is a 95% probability that the sample taken for this study would fall within the stated margin of error if compared with the results achieved from surveying the entire population. The margin of error for this survey is +/- 4.9%.

DHM Research Background: DHM Research has been providing opinion research and consultation throughout the Pacific Northwest and other regions of the United States for over 40 years. The firm is nonpartisan and independent and specializes in research projects to support public policy making.

HOW TO READ CROSSTABLES

Q1. All in all, do you think things are headed in the right direction or are things pretty much on the wrong track?

TOTAL RESULTS	Total	Gender
		Male	Female
Total	1371 100%	599 100% (B)	772 100% (C)
Right direction	943 69%	394 66%	549B 71%

Don't know	192 14%	79 13%	113 15%

(sig=.05) (all_pairs) columns tested BC

How to Read Crosstables: In the example chart (left), rows represent the three possible response options to the question “All in all, do you think things are headed in the right direction, or are things pretty much on the wrong track?” The three response options are: “right direction,” “wrong track,” and “don’t know.” The amounts in each response category sum to the amount in the “total” row at the top of the table.

The first column, or banner, is the “Total” column. It reflects the overall results.

The next two columns reflect the results of a subgroup, “Gender.” The gender subgroup is composed of Males and Females, each with their own column. Both gender groups are assigned a letter (Male=B, Female=C).

These two columns show how males’ attitudes compare to females’ attitudes. As shown in the chart, 69% of the full sample thinks things are headed in the right direction. Looking at the gender subgroup, 71% of women think things are headed in the right direction, compared to 66% of men.

Statistically Significant Differences: If a pair of cells has a difference which is statistically significant, the larger of the two cells is flagged with the letter of the opposite column. The test shows the difference in females’ attitudes about things being headed in the right direction is statistically significantly different than those of males’, which is signified by a “B” (the letter given to Males) next to females’ results for “right direction.”

The footnote indicates the level of significance (sig=.05). This level of significance means that 5% of the time, the difference between how the two groups feel about the direction is due to random chance, while 95% of the time the difference is meaningful.

Statement of Limitations: Any sampling of opinions or attitudes is subject to a margin of error, which represents the difference between a sample of a given population and the total population. The margin of error is a statistic expressing the amount of random sampling error in a survey's results and differs by sample size, as reflected in the table below.

Margin of Error Based on Sample Size

N=1200	N=1000	N=800	N=600	N=500	N=400	N=300	N=200	N=150	N=100	N=50
