Neighborhood Corner

Check out the new cross walk signs at the Intersection of E. 29th Street and Grand Blvd.

Every intersection is a crosswalk - It's the law. Drivers must stop for pedestrians at intersections, whether it's an unmarked or marked crosswalk, and bicyclists in crosswalks are considered pedestrians. Also, it is illegal to pass another vehicle stopped for someone at a crosswalk. In Washington, the leading action by motorists that results in them hitting someone is failure to yield to pedestrians.
